

Ascension Episcopal School

Inspired to achieve.

Gator Bytes!

October 28, 2011

Dear AES Families,

First, to all of you who have responded so positively to my request to help our school in the recruitment of new families, my sincere thanks. We are now ratcheting up this initiative with a number of opportunities and events.

The events are evening drop-ins, from 6:30-8:00 p.m. in the homes of Dawn and Brent Stolzenhaller (November 2nd), Michelle and Pratt Doucet (November 9th), and Lynn and Pat Trahan (November 14th). This is an opportunity for prospective families to be introduced to our school, to ask questions, and to follow up with campus visitation. Presentations will be relaxed, informal, and low key. Do you know of a family that would be a good match for AES? My guess is that you probably know several. I am asking that you reach out to one or two of these families and invite them to come with you to one of these information sessions. You will be doing a great service for your school.

Additionally, we are also providing six opportunities in November for interested families to visit our respective campuses. Dates and times for these, as well as the information events, are all posted on the AES website under the "Admissions" tab. Again, you are encouraged to invite/escort prospective families to these tours. They may be the same families you have invited to the information sessions or different families altogether.

My thanks to the Stolzenhaller, Doucets, and Trahans for opening their homes: and, as usual, my thanks to you for your trust and engagement with AES in the education of your children.

Geaux Gators!

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Lee Cox".

Lee Cox
Interim Headmaster